The iF product design award a design distinction with international recognition value

As one of the world;s oldest design competitions, the iF product design award can look back on a rich, long tradition. This seal of fine design quality, in the shape of a square, red logo with its distinctive lettering, has stood for qualitatively outstanding design awards for over 50 years.

Last year a jury of specialists evaluated 2,292 entries from 35 different nations, the best of which were selected for an award and publicized internationally. And in 2008 this awards contest is again dedicated to promoting awareness of the significance of excellent design, as well as to providing corporations with an opportunity to go up directly against the competition and the interested public with a platform for fine design. This is because the by now 14 categories in the iF product design award give you an idea of the complexity of contemporary design and the broad spectrum it covers. All prizewinners can be proud of their design achievements and can communicate them in their press and PR work as well as their marketing campaigns. Each winner receives a coveted iF certificate, which retains its validity for the entire product lifecycle
